Bungalow Bliss in Mt. Baker — Scott Perret

The Bungalow Bliss story A new history of Bungalow Bliss has just been published for the first time. Written by architect Jack Fitzsimons shortly before his death in 2014, the new book, entitled Bungalow Bliss Bias, provides an account of the Bungalow Blissproject, and the social circumstances that impelled it, in the author's own words.

Bungalow Bliss Bias | Kells Publishing Company

Bungalow homes are generally narrow yet deep homes, often with a detached garage. They are single story homes or one-and-a-half stories. They usually have a small porch with columns set in large brick bases. A gabled roof with steep pitches is common to this style.

Do you like gripping crime thrillers? Then discover the explosive, unmissable and best-selling DI Bliss series today. THERE ARE THREE STUNNING CRIME THRILLERS IN THIS GREAT VALUE BOXSET: Bad to the Bone The Scent of Guilt If Fear Wins Bad to the Bone: A skeletal body is unearthed in a wooded area of Peterborough, Cambridgeshire. DI James Bliss, together with DC Penny Chandler, investigate the case and discover that the young, female victim had been relocated from its original burial site. A witness is convinced that a young female was struck by a vehicle back in the summer of 1990, and that police attended the scene. However, no record exists of either the accident or the reported victim. As the case develops, two retired police officers are murdered. The two are linked with others who were on duty at the time a road accident was reported. As Bliss and Chandler delve deeper into the investigation, they start to question whether senior officers may have been involved in the murder of the young women who was buried in the woods. As each link in the chain is put under duress, so is Bliss who clashes with superiors and the media. When his team receives targeted warnings, Bliss will need to decide whether to drop the case or to pursue those responsible. Will Bliss walk away in order to keep his career intact or will he fight no matter what the cost? And is it possible the killer is much closer than they imagined?

The Scent of Guilt: Twelve years after he left Peterborough under a cloud, DI Bliss returns to the city and the major crimes team. Having spent years policing organised crime, Bliss is plunged straight into the heart of a serial murder investigation. Meanwhile, Penny Chandler has been promoted to DS and has been working in London on the Met's sexual crimes team. But when two rapes are reported on her old patch in Peterborough, Chandler volunteers to interview the victims. Chandler joins the hunt for the attacker and soon notices a possible link between the rapes and Bliss's murder investigation. Could the same man be responsible? Just as both cases seem to stall, a call comes in from an ex-policeman who knows of unsolved cases in the USA with a similar MO. Bliss finds himself travelling to California to hunt for a killer whose reach may have stretched further than anyone could possibly imagine. But in order to catch the murderer, Bliss must discover the killer's motive. A motive which should have remained buried in the past...

If Fear Wins: When a torched body is found in a country lane, DI Bliss and Chandler are called in to investigate. The detectives are drawn towards recent missing person reports and believe their victim will prove to be one of them. Bliss thinks he knows which, and fears the outcome if he is proven right. Soon the body is identified, and Bliss and Chandler discover evidence suggesting this murder might be a terrorist attack. Meanwhile, someone from Bliss's past needs his help, and soon he is juggling his personal life with the demanding case. To make matters more complicated, MI5 and the Counter-Terrorist Unit are called in to help solve the case. But are they on the right track? Bliss and Chandler soon find themselves in a race against time, and this might just be their most challenging case yet... Tony J. Forder is also the best-selling author of Degrees of Darkness and Scream Blue Murder. The stunning DI Bliss series are fast-paced police thrillers which will appeal to fans of authors like Michael Connelly, Robert Bryndza and Angela Marsons.

The first five books in the acclaimed detective series where conspiracy, murder and mayhem plague the streets of Peterborough in the East of England. Bad to the Bone When the remains of a young woman are discovered in the woods of Peterborough, DI James Bliss and DC Penny Chandler suspect senior officers were involved in the murder. The Scent of Guilt DI Bliss returns to Peterborough's major crimes team and is plunged straight into the heart of a serial murder investigation. If Fear Wins When a torched body is found in a country lane, DI Bliss and Chandler believe the murder may have been linked to a terrorist attack. The Reach of Shadows While recovering from serious injuries, DI Bliss investigates
